

ABSTRACT

A gigantic strength type cutter knife includes a knife body has a handle portion, a plurality of blades and a handle shell. The plurality of blades are superimposed and disposed in the knife body.

- 5 The knife body is provided with a pushing key, which can drive one of the blades to be bulged outside the knife body. The handle shell assembled on the handle portion. The handle shell can be assembled on or taken away from the handle portion or replaced with a new one, whereby the handle portion of the gigantic strength
- 10 type cutter knife can provide enough friction effect to avoid slipping by means of the handle shell and the shape of the handle shell is further full of variety to meet the requirement of consumer.